

OPITO Health, Safety and the Environment Statement

Safety conscious, health conscious and environmentally aware thinking is to characterise all work at UNITEAM Training (UT).

All activities carried out at UT shall, at the very least, comply with relevant HSE legislation requirements applicable in the Union of Myanmar. To this end, relevant HSE legislation requirements shall be identified and communicated to all employees.

Good HSE practices shall be observed at all times and in all spheres of UT's activities, and shall remain one of the most important requirements of UT.

Environmental aspects are to be taken into account where relevant. This means avoiding the discharge of environmentally harmful substances to air, land and water.

Health, safety and environment are line responsibilities and are the shared responsibility of all staff of the academy. The most important element of HSE management is prevention. Appropriate HSE programmes shall be established to ensure the training centre is a safe and healthy work place for employees, training course participants and visitors.

Documentation relating to HSE is integrated in UT's Management System.

One role of OPITO is to ensure all persons receive training to the OPITO standards, as specified by the Oil & Gas Extraction Industry.
